Literacy Matters Across the Curriculum

Literacy matters across all content. If kids can't, won't or don't read, nothing else matters! We are not all reading teachers, but we are all teachers of literacy. The ability to read and write, to speak and listen, to use language to communicate; the ability to read about history, scientific discoveries and mathematical theories, to critique great literature and to debate a telling point; the ability to speak eloquently, to hear and be heard, to write with clarity, these are academic performances embraced by all teachers. Join this session and begin the conversation about literacy across the content. Leave with strategies for guided reading in both narrative and informational text that every teacher can use to support literacy.

Robin Fogarty talks about what she loves . . .

“Professional Development (PD) includes an entire array of models for school staff that include: seminars, books studies, workshops and trainings. PD by Robin Fogarty & Associates is specifically designed and delivered by experts in a field of curriculum development, instructional strategies and assessment techniques. The PD focus is on in-depth learning for school improvement. The goal is to deliver PD that transfers, directly and immediately from “the staff room to the classroom” for teachers, mentors, academic coaches and school leadership.

The most expensive staff development that you can buy, is the on that teachers do not transfer back to their classrooms.
